CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

MUST CHOOSE WITH CARE.

With the retirement of Hon. Geo. C. Perkins from the United States Senate at the end of the present term the State of California will suffer a distinct loss. During his long and honorable service Senator Perkins has acquired a standing and influence which has enabled him to accomplish much for the benefit of the State and to wield a strong influence among his colleagues in the shaping of National legislation.

That the splendid prestige thus acquired for California in the councils of the nation may be retained, it is essential that his successor should be a man not alone well informed in the affairs of state, but one so capable of expressing his thoughts as to command the attention of his colleagues. Undoubtedly no man in the State of California more fuliy meets these important requirements than does Hon. Samuel M. Shortridge. A man of deep learning, a close student of the affairs of the world, he is fully informed in the problems confronting the country and its relations to the nations of the world, An orator of marked eloquence, his words will command the attention and respect of a body composed of such able men as is even the Senate of the United States. Certainly the Republican party could find no more worthy nominee for this exalted position.

ABOLISH THE JURY SYSTEM.

Attorney John D. Willard believes the jury system should be reformed and he has given us the following statement of his views on the subject:

"Trial by jury should be abolished in all civil cases. The present jury system grew up under social and industrial conditions entirely different from those which prevail at present and at a time when lawsuits were few and the time required to try them was short. Under those conditions it was no detriment to the community for twelve men to be occasionally taken from their labors for a short time to determine the right in some petty business dispute.

As the jury knew nothing about the rules of law, the lawyers and judges became jealous of any encroachment by the jury upon the province of the professionally trained lawyer and, as a result, a multitude of technical rules as to what evidence should be considered by the jury was forced into the judicial system. It was and is the lawyers' idea that as soon as any hearsay testimony is heard in court, or any other testimony which ia not simonpure evidence, the jurors, out of their natural perverseness, will be sure to decide the case upon this improper evidence. Hence the struggle of the lawyers and the courts to keep the jury from hearing anything but unobjectionable evidence and hence the necessity of reversing cases when any improper evidence happens to come to the ears of the jury. Nearly all of the bothersome technical rules of practice involved in the trial of a case have been developed by the legal profession for the sole purpose of keeping a strict control over the jury.

If all civil cases were tried by a court of three judges, the occasion for reversing cases upon appeal would be largely obviated. These three lawyer-judges would not decide a case upon any improper or illegal or improper evidence, even though such evidence might creep in. The time consumed in objecting and wrangling over the admissability of evidence at a trial would be saved.

The legal presumption is that a judge decides a case only upon proper evidence and the direct way to get the benefit of this rule, and thus overcome technical objections, is to have a trial court composed of judges. This court, composed of three judges, ought to be able to try a case with legal accuracy, and after the trial and judgement if the dissatisfied party could point out to the court any matter in which a mistake had been make the court could at once amend the judgment to conform with what it should have been, provided they should conclude that a mistake had been made. If this mistake consisted in excluding evidence which should have been admitted the court could at once admit the excluded evidence and then re-decide the case.

Aside from establishing a new and better system for the trial of civil cases such a trial court as advocated would save the expense now involved in maintaining a cumbersome and archaic jury system, would expedite trials and largely do away with the delays of the law, and also save the time of citizens who are now forced, at great personal inconvenience and injury to business, to give their time every now and then to jury service.

In my opinion the greatest injustice of the present system is to the jurors. There seems to be no conceivable ground upon which can be defended the outrageous practice of forcing a juror away from his business without reasonable notice to give his valuable time to settling financial disputes between litigants to whom the juror is under no obligation whatever. The whole matter of civil litigation is purely a business matter and should be settled along business lines without injury to or imposition on members of the community in no wise involved.

Our jury system should be speedily reformed and it is to be hoped that all public spirited citizens will set themselves to the task without delay and put through needed reforms.

Dr. Taggart Laid to Rest.

After months of suffering and a heroic battle for life, Dr. Harry W. Taggart passed away Sunday morning at St. Luke's hospital in San Francisco. Dr. Taggart had been an invalid for over two years and during that period had submitted to two operations with the hope of recovering his health. Two months ago he was removed to St. Luke s hospital where the second operation was performed. His condition was weakened and it was deemed a hazardous undertaking, but realizing that it was his only hope. though a forlorn one, Dr. Taggart submitted to the ordeal. For weeks he hovered between life and death, fighting bravely against the grim destroyer. As a last resource the phyicians ordered a transfusion of blood, and Mrs. Taggart, who had remained with her husband during the trying ordeals through which he had passed, came forward and gave to the dying man the vital fluid to prolong his life. This was two weeks ago, and since then reports from the hospital have been varied—sometimes hopeful and as often without hope.

Late last week it was known that the patient could not survive. He also realized that the time was close at hand when he must give up life and all that it held that wasdearto him. He was brave until the end and early Sunday morning he passed peacefully to rest.

Dr. Harry Wallace Taggart was a native of Goffstown, New Hampshire, aged 45 years. He was educated in the schools at Stockton and afterward took a course at the San Jose State Normal school. His medical education was received in a college at St. Louis. In 1897 he began the practice of medicine at Stockton and became prominent in his profession in that city. On account of ill health he removed to Redwood City in 1909 and built up a large practice, besides becoming popular in the community. His untimely death is the cause of general regret.

The deceased is survived by his wife, an adopted son and his mother and sister. The interment took place Wednesday at Mount Olivet cemetery under the auspices of the Masons.

Some particularly interesting programs have been secured for the Bell Theatre by Manager Nathhorst for the coming week. For this evening there will be a five reel program, the leading features of which will be a two-reel drama of love and college life entitled "Dear Old Girl," and a comic stunt from Mutt and Jeff, the always popular characters. On Sunday evening the feature will be one of the great Keystone comedies. On Monday evening will be shown, among other features, one of the General Film Company's special service films depicting the life and habits of wild beasts at large. The usual prices of 5 and 10 cents will prevail.

The county board of education on Wednesday granted diplomas of graduation to forty-one applicants The board will hold the semi-annual examination for teachers next week, beginning Monday.

Saint Peter's Church.

At a meeting of the recently elected vestry of St. Peter's church last Tuesday evening organization was completed by the selection of the following officers: George C. Holberton, senior warden; J. E. Harris, junior worden; E. P. Heisle, treasurer; Dr. J. E. Chapin, clerk; Plans were made for an active campaign for the improvement of the already prosperous affairs of the parish and the increase of interest in its spiritual affairs.

The services at the church for next Sunday, the last Sunday in Advent, will be as follows: Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m.; morning service and sermon at 11 o'clock; evening service and lecture at 7:30, with special musical service.

Extensive preparations are being made for the services on Christmas Day, which will be as follows: Midnight mass, 12 o'clock; sunrise service, 7:30; Christmas communion 10:30.

The annual Christmas tree exercises of the Sunday school will be held next Friday evening at the Guild hall, when a program of interesting exercises will be rendered by the pupils for the entertainment of their parents and friends.

The Capitol Market has just received a large consignment of fat turkeys from Gilroy for the holidays Get your Christmas bird today Don't delay for they may be all sold by next week.

Miss Alice Holden and Miss Emma Holden attended a card party and dance at San Bruno Tuesday evening. Fine turkeys were given as prizes for the card games and the young ladies each brought home a turkey.

MONDAY IS DESIGNATED PENNY DAY

City Council Sets Apart Day for Public Aid in Battle Against White Plague Scourge.

Next Monday is to be "Penny Day" in Redwood City, when every resident, both old and young, will be expected to lend aid to the National Red Cross in its campaign against the dread white plague. That was the official edict of the city council at its session last Monday evening. The action was taken at the suggestion of the ladies of the local chapter of the National Red Cross, presented through Chairman Merrill. The plan of public recognition of this worthy cause met with the unanimous support of the trustees, all of whom were present at the meeting and all of whom joined in thesentiment that the day should be set apart to a concerted public effort to swell the funds devoted to this notable public work. As an earnest of their desire to further the cause, the trustees voted to expend $5 in the purchase of stamps to be used by City Clerk Plump in his official correspondence.

Considerable of the time of the session of the council, which was one of the largest on its record, was devoted to a consideration of the tangles surrounded the improvement of the County road within the city limits, conracts for which were recently let by the board of supervisors under the good roads bond issue. The matter came up on a request presented by Supervisor MacBain of the Third District, who appeared as the representative of the board of supervisors, that the council pass an ordinance ceeding to the county jurisdiction for the construction of the improvements. In making the request, Supervisor MacBain stated that under an opinion rendered by District Attorney Swart, the supervisors were without jurisdiction to proceed with the work under the contract as let. At the outset of the discussion, the trustees indicated a readiness to take any action necessary on the part of the city to remove the legal obstacles. Inquiry developed the fact that a resolution to this effect had been passed some months ago. City Attorney Mansfield also informed the council that he had consulted with the District Attorney in reference to the matter and requested him to signify any action he desired and to outline the provisions which he considered necessary in any ordinance to be adopted. After consultation, the city attorney was direced to prepare for submission to the next meeting an ordinance ceeding to the county jurisdiction for the construction of a concrete and asphalt roadway 39 feet in width over the entrie length of the roadway in the city limits.

With this phaze of the matter disposed of, another difficulty was presented when it was announced that the grade of the roadway as specified in the present specifications did not correspond with the official grades of intersecting streets. Mr. MacBain informed the council that the supervisors would offer no objection to a change in the grades that would remove this objection but that so far the county surveyor had objected to any changes in the specifications. It was also stated that the contractors had signified a willingness to submit to any changes in grades that might be desired and approved by the authorities. Clerk Plump was directed to request of the supervisors that the grades be so modified as to remove present difficulties and make it feasible to continue the improvement of the street for its entire with on an even grade.

Miss Eddy, a representative of the State Library Board, appeared before the council with a request that a resolution be adopted declaring it to be the desire of the city to become a participant in the county library plan recently adopted by the legislature. In presenting the request, Miss Eddy informed the council that under the law, cities having established libraries were excluded from the benefits of the state provision unless a resolution of this character were adpted. The trustees signified a readiness to adopt a resolution of the character adopted, but on the suggestion that forms of resolutions had been adopted by the State Library Board and that one would be furnished, action was deferred until the next meeting.

A request of the Redwood City Woman's Club that controll of the gymnasium, after the building had been placed in repair, be turned over to that organization, was placed on file, the general opinion being that control of public buildings should not be delegated to private organizations or individuals.

Notice was received from the John R. Ott Contracting Company that they had completed certain streets under their contract, with a request that the superintendent of streets be directed to inspect the streets and upon approval to issue warrants for payment against the property. The order of inspection was passed The same company reported that they had completed work on street intersections to the value of $2671 and asked that they be allowed a payment of $2200. Upon a favorable report of the superintendent of streets the payment was authorized.

The annual report of Chief Winter of the fire department indicated that the city had been extremely fortunate during the past year. But seven alarms of fire had called out the department, the total loss from which but slightly exceeded $200. The department now has in use 1600 feet of hose in excellent condition and 500 feet additional still fit for service. A recommendation of the chief that the fire hydrants be given a monthly inspection was granted, the city mechanic to do the work. A recommendation that the fire houses be painted was laid over until more seasonable weather with the assurance that the work would be done.

M. E. Ryan, the electrical engineer who had direct charge of the reorganization of the street lighting system of the city, submitted a report showing the cost of that work. The report shows that the net cost to the city of the entire installation of the new lighting system had been $5894.

The application of A. Pierini for a transfer to him of the saloon license for the bar at the Tremont House was granted.

Street Superintendent Dickey reported to the council that so far he had been unable to induce the Southern Pacific Railway Company to live up to its agreement to construct culverts under the tracks. Clerk Plump was directed to notify the company that culverts must be installed without further delay.

City Clerk Plump was directed to request the trustees of the city library to meet with the council at its next session for the purpose of discussing the needs and condition of that institution.

The monthly claims against the city were allowed.

The deceased had tied a bailing rope to a small limb of thetree and then slid off. When the body was examined at the morgue nearly $400 was found neatly tucked away in his pocket. The deceased was evidently demented, as a letter found on the body would indicate this. it was written at San Francisco December 15, and addressed to a brother in Los Angeles. It was bearly legible and in a rambling manner the writer spoke of being hounded. The letter contained a money order for $100 to be divided among his brothers and sisters. adopted on motion of Casey, seconded by MacBain.

The proposed change of the county highway at South San Francisco was given further discussion, J. E. McCurdy appearing on behalf of those who were opposed to a different route than that specified at the time the road bonds were voted.

Daniel McSweeney and W. J. Martin also addressed the board on the subject, after which it was ordered, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Casey, that the matter be laid over until the first meeting in January and that in the meantime the two factions of South San Francisco try to agree upon a route that will be agreeable to both.

An ordinance re-establishing the county's voting precincts was presented and adopted on motion of Casey, seconded by MacBain.

On motion of Casey, seconded by MacBain, the chairman was authorized to purchase a quantity of culvert pipe for use in his district.

The District Attorney advised the board that it must take cognizance of the Dudfield Lumber Company's claim against E. Biggio for material furnished for bridgework.

On motion of Blackburn, seconded by Francis, it was ordered that A. Mattson proceed with the work of building the Boges-creek bridge according to the terms of his contract, the necessary right of way having been acquired by the board.

Surveyor Neuman presented plans and specifications for a concrete culvert in the Canada road, the estimated cost of which is $546, and the clerk was directed to publish a notice calling for bids for the work.

The surveyor gave a report as to the condition of the bridge at Pescadero. It was ordered, on motion of MacBain, seconded by Francis, that he present an estimate at the next regular meeting of the cost of properly repairing the bridge.

Superintendent Eubanks presented a list of the supplies needed for the county hospital during the coming year. On motion of Francis, seconded by Blackburn, it was ordered that the usual notice calling for bids for furnishing the same.

On motion of Casey, seconded by MacBain, it was ordered that $2000 be transferred from the Fifth District fund to the First District fund which amount had been previously lent to the former district.

It was ordered, on motion of Casey, seconded by Francis, that the County Surveyor bring about a conference of the nonconsenting property owners on the San Pedro road before December 29, with a view to an amicable settlement of their claims against the county.

Adjourned to December 29th.

MACON, GA., CHILD
Made Strong and Well by Vinol.

When we tell you that Vinol is the best remedy in our whole stock for making weak, puny, ailing children strong, robust and rosy we are only telling you what has been proved by hundreds of mothers.

J. L. Fickling, Macon, Ga., says: "My child was very thin and delicate, no appetite, nervous, and did not sleep well. Doctors did not help her. Vinol was recommended and the change after a fair trial was wonderful. She sleeps soundly all night, has a splendid appetite and has gained in weight. I wish every mother knew what Vinol will do for delicate children."

What Vinol did for this little girl it will do for every weak and ailing child because sickly children need the strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic iron that Vinol contains—that is why Vinol builds them up quickly and gives them a fine, healthy color. It is pleasant to take and we guarantee that the results will satisfy you—money back if they do not.

P. S.—If you have Eczema try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.
